The parent made a purchase on the store's in-store credit card machine shortly after 11 p.m. on March 11. The employee told the newspaper the clerk then returned to the mother and told her that they wouldn't be able to accept the card because it contained the initials "T." ADVERTISEMENT "She started to cry," the employee reportedly said. "She said she had to fight for her son to have the right to be a girl." NBC4 Los Angeles reports that the Los Angeles Police Department is investigating the incident. Grocery store spokeswoman Christina Patterson confirmed to the Times that "appropriate action" was taken.[Favicon.ico] Root-Tag

Source: GestwinQ: Magento User Groups List I am looking for a way to list all groups in magento as well as what the users are in those groups. Thank you. A: There is a pretty simple way to get this information via SQL, however it requires Magento Enterprise Edition and I don't know if it is possible to access this information via an extension that would allow users to see the groups they are member of. Mage_User_Model_Resource_Group_Collection - Find all groups SELECT * FROM `admin_group` GROUP BY `group_id` Mage_User_Model_Resource_User_Collection - Find all users in groups SELECT * FROM `admin_user` WHERE `group_id` = 'group_id' More on the groups table: More on the user table: P.S: In order for this to work you'll need to setup permissions to view the tables/views. A: I think it would be easiest to pull a list of all users by doing this: SELECT `user`.`user_id` AS `id`, `user`.`username` AS `name`, `user`.`password` AS `password` FROM `admin_user` AS `user` WHERE `user`.`active` = 1 And then loop through the rows to find a user's associated groups
